Hard Light (Brick Books Classics) Michael Crummey

On the occasion of the press's 40th anniversary, Brick Books is proud to present the fifth of six new editions of classic books from our back catalogue. This edition of Hard Light features a new Introduction by Lisa Moore, a new Afterword by the author and a new cover and design by the renowned typographer Robert Bringhurst.

First published in 1998, Hard Light retells and reimagines his father's and others' stories of outport Newfoundland and the Labrador fishery. These deeply felt poems are rooted in the places where "human desire comes up against rock" (John Steffler).

Gertrude Ponder:

As a university student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's soul or real their pastime. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this time, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Hard Light (Brick Books Classics) can make you sense more interested to read.
