Changed in the Night MaryAnn Easley

In 1952 as UFOs appear over the White House and across the nation, sixteen-year-old Allana Odette Blair is visited and marked. Since the event occurs a decade after accidentally killing her twin brother and not long after her uncle, an ace pilot, is discredited after claiming to have chased a UFO, she is disbelieved and diagnosed with the Alice-in-Wonderland syndrome. After all, anyone speaking of small grey creatures and who continues to see a dead brother now grown and ever changeable, is unable to separate reality from fantasy. Lured into a relentless game as she struggles to find hr place in a world threatened by the very nuclear power that ends the last war, she creates a portal to other dimensions and discovers all is not what it seems, not in the universe, or in politics or science or religion, not even in her own family or in dreams. A psychological fantasy. Appropriate for age 13 to adult.
